In 2000 Neal played a significant role in the famous "Music City Miracle" play which launched the Tennessee Titans into Superbowl XXXIV. At Fresno State, Lorenzo Finished his college career as the school's second-leading rusher with 2,405 yards.

Lorenzo Neal's experience with youth football camps/clinics is unique. He is one of the few NFL celebrities who has continuous hands on involvement while working with kids and young adults "one-on-one". Players will receive first hand instruction and have access to learning some of the techniques that Lorenzo has used throughout his career. In addition to teaching important football fundamentals and skills, AASC places strong emphasis on life lessons, and the important values that the game of football has to offer. AASC will hold workshops led by guest speakers, coaches & staff members who will teach everything from how to have fun during the game, to preparing for high school and the best way to get a college scholarship. Another unique attribute of this camp is its commitment to working with and teaching parents how to recognize and apply the lessons that organized sports can offer our kids. AASC Guarantees that players will not only have access to the best football instruction around, they will have an experience that will last a lifetime!

With the high demands of competitive football, Coaches expect more out of their players than ever before. Off-Season training and skill improvement has become the norm for those who wish to stay on top of their game.

The AASC program is designed to teach fundamental skills which allow players to achieve this goal. With all that goes into training and preparing football teams these days, the very basic fundamentals are sometimes overlooked. Coaches usually need all the time they have to teach systems and prepare for games

Our goal is to give players something that they can take with them. We teach the fundamental skills that must be perfected before a player can take the field. Our program will then give players the tools necessary to retain what they have learned so they can synchronize these skills with the system that's being run at their league or school.

Whether it's Pop Warner or the NFL, Players who are well drilled in fundamentals usually possess a stronger degree of confidence in their ability. Only proper preparation and presentation of these fundamentals will produce that confidence. We will work to instill this among the players who attend AASC, making them more competitive, durable, and hard to beat!

Our staff will thoroughly train & prepare each player to be a better, more confident football player. Players will have access to excellent recreational and housing facilities along with top coaches, trainers and NFL players to give each camper the finest football instruction available & an experience they will never forget!
